

Windows of Wonder - Johanna

15th October 2011

This is what I experienced a week ago.

I was in my parish church. A white Father was having his fare well Mass before going back to Zambia. In his powerful homily he mentioned all that he had done and was still planning to do in Zambia, for the poor, for people with HIV and Aids, for the many orphans and so on.

Suddenly I was back in my childhood days so many years ago. Again I heard a priest talking about the missions and about the poor people. That was the moment I got my vocation!

Now again, I said 'Yes Lord', gladly I would do it again for another 45 years. Was this the confirmation of what I did was good? It felt like that. It made my day very happy!
